All that is Known of Shakespeare.

BY DR. R. SHELTON MACKENZIE

It often happens that great men are worldly men. I dare say that Shakespeare, while yet a Bohemian, spent his money freely enough, but it is one of the very few ascertained facts of his personal history that, when he got rich, he was saving, close, and it may be, rather usurious. As soon as ever he became a man of means and substance, "a well-to-do gentleman," as the saying is, and he determined to "write himself a gentleman"—that is, to establish himself, in a legal manner, as a gentleman.

His father, a wool-stapler in Stratford-on-Avon, now one of "those Meccas of the mind" mentioned by Fitz Greene Halleck, had married Mary Arden, a damsel of gentle blood, about the year 1557, and William Shakspeare, their third child, was born in 1564. John Shakspeare applied to the Herald's College, in London, for a grant of arms in 1596, at which time the poet, then only thirty-two years old, had made money and had become able to purchase property in his native town. At that time, John Shakspeare was an old man and not very well off. The distinction of being considered a "gentleman" could have been nothing to him. He had written himself "yeoman" all his life—I mean that had been done for him, because, to tell the whole truth, Shakspeare's father never was able even to write his own name, though in his more prosperous days he had been a burgess, alderman, and even Mayor of Stratford.

There is still extant (given in full in Halliway's life of William Shakspeare, pages 67 to 69) an inventory of the "goods and chattels of Henry Freeble, late of Stratford upon-Avon, in the county of Warwyke, tanner, now deceased," taken by three persons legally appointed, one of whom was this name, John Shakspeare. It is duly signed by Richard Spooner and Thomas Trussell, two of the legal trio, but the signature of John Shakspeare, Sr., was undoubtedly written by Trussell; and a little below it, on the right, is simply a cross (X) such as in our day is set down when an illiterate person puts "his X mark" on paper as a substitute for his name. Several other documents so signed by John Shakspeare, are in existence. The fact is undoubted, Alderman John Shakspeare, who had been Mayor of Stratford, could not write his own name.

The grant of regular armorial arms which John Shakspeare applied for at the Herald's College, in 1596, was not granted until 1599. The reasons for thus honoring him, as stated in the drafts of the grant (one written in 1596 and the other in 1599), was that his grandfather had rendered good service to King Henry the Seventh, and that he himself had married "a daughter and heyre of Arden, a gentleman of worship." It is believed that in 1596, when the application for armorial arms was first made, William Shakspeare's only son was alive. He died in August of that year. In 1597, Shakspeare purchased the New Place, then the principal house in Stratford. He was then thirty three years old. Fifteen years before, he had gone to London to win his way through the world, and he came back a wealthy man. It is said that Lord Southampton, who was very much his friend, had presented him with one thousand pounds towards purchasing the New Place, but Shakspeare really could have paid the money out of his own means. He had made it by the theaters, for which he wrote and in which he was proprietor. His contemporary, also a player and theatrical proprietor, but not an author, also realized a fortune, with which he founded and endowed Dulwich College, near London. William Shakspeare could have got armorial bearings for himself; but there was a touch of natural vanity in his desiring to get them through his father—that is, not to have them first. Besides, in addition to the arms of Shakspeare, he was allowed to quarter those of Arden, his mother being of gentle blood. At any rate, from 1597 to his death, 1616, Shakspeare almost continuously resided in his house, the New Place, Stratford, qualified to mix in the best society there as probably one of the richest men, and a gentleman at-arms through the grant from the Herald's College to his father.

Shakspeare was fond of turning an honest penny. In 1598 he sold a load of stone to the corporation of Stratford for the sum of tenpence; it is duly entered in the Chamberlain's accounts for that year. In the same year, being known to have money and the desire to increase it, he was very strongly urged to buy land at Shottery, whence he had his wife. At the same time Richard Quiney, whose son Thomas married Shakspeare's youngest daughter, wrote several letters about Shakspeare's bargaining. Mr. Halliwell gives strong reasons for thinking that Shakspeare had accumulated a capital in ready money, and "increased it by supplying loans at interest." There is now, in the possession of Wheeler, of Stratford, a letter from the above named Richard Quiney to Shakespeare, requesting the loan of thirty pounds, on his own security, joined with that of a friend; now, thirty pounds in October, 1598, is equal in value to one hundred and fifty pounds at present. From the way in which Quiney addresses his "lovinge good ffrend and countryman," it is quite clear that the money was there, if Shakspeare would only lend it. Quincy writes: "You shall lose neither creddytt nor monney by me, the Lord wyllinge." Mr. Halliwell calls this "a precious document on the history of Shakspeare's social life—one that brings him before us as occupied in the ordinary business of ordinary men. This is one of the few genuine relics of the great poet, nearly the only one we can safely touch to have ever been in his own hands, and is the only letter addressed to Shakspeare known to exist. It is a very small document, folded up in the exact size (three inches by two) here indicated, and directed in the customary style of the period."

In this same year, 1598, Shakspeare, albeit now set up as a man of property and "gentleman" in his native town, unquestionably was one of the actors in Ben Johnson's play of "Every Man in his Humor," performed by the Lord Chamberlain's servants (as the players were then called; within my own recollection they were set down in the bills as "Her Majesty's servants"), at the Globe Theater. It, as tradition runs, Shakspeare was lame, his range of characters as actor must have been limited.

In 1602, some years after his return to Stratford, Shakspeare bought one hundred and ten acres of land in the parish of Old Stratford, his brother Gilbert negotiating the transfer. The same year he bought a house in Dead Lane, Stratford, near New Place. I saw it many years ago, but it has since been pulled down and a more ambitious building erected on the site.

Also in 1602, Shakspeare gave sixty pounds to Hercules Underhill for "one messuage, two barns, two gardens and two orchards," all in Stratford. In 1604 he brought an action in the Stratford Court of Record to recover from one Philip Rogers the value of malt sold and delivered to him at various times. In July, 1605, he paid four hundred and forty pounds (equal to twenty-two hundred pounds sterling of present English money) for the unexpired moiety of a lease granted in 1541, for ninety two years of the tythes of Stratford and three other parishes. He made this purchase at the request of the corporation of Stratford, who knew that the management of these tythes would require much prudential care and the command of capital, and were aware that Shakspeare possessed both. After this he made few purchases of any importance. Two houses in Henley street, Stratford, became his by freehold succession, on his father's death, in 1601. When he finally quitted the stage is not exactly known, but in a letter believed to have been written in 1608 he is mentioned as "still of late an actor of good account in the company." After he had ceased to act he retained an interest in the profits of the theater.

In 1605, when the Corporation of London desired to buy out the players from the Blackfriars' theater, Shakspeare asked five hundred pounds for his share of the wardrobe and "properties," and nine hundred and thirty three pounds for his shares—total £1,433, equal to £7,165 of our English money. But his theatrical property then brought him in £1,856 per annum (of modern money), which was a very large income two hundred and sixty years ago.

He did not cease writing when he left off acting, for "King Lear" was first acted at Whitehall in 1607, the "Taming of the Shrew" appeared in the same year; "Troilus and Cressida" in 1609, "The Tempest" was first acted in Whitehall in 1611; "The Winter Tale" same place and year, and "Henry the Eighth" was acted as a new play when the Globe Theater was burned, in 1613. At that time Shakspeare was in his fiftieth year. He was only fifty-three when he died. The one hundred and seven acres which he purchased in the parish of Old Stratford, in May, 1602, from William and John Combe, he is believed to have farmed.

Probably his younger brother, Gilbert, born in October, 1566, acted as his bailiff and man of business. He certainly was alive in 1609, for a deed of that date, in which his signature occurs as a witness, is still in existence. He wrote himself Shakespeare. There are at least forty various ways of spelling that name. Mrs. Shakspeare, the poet's mother, died in September, 1608.

Shakspeare's looking after the main chance seems to have continued to the end. In March, 1609 he commenced a suit against one John Addenbrooke for the sum of six pounds sterling. The legal declaration, still existing, bears an indorsement from the sergeant at mace that Addenbrooke was not to be found—literally, "Johannes non est inventus impa. libertat. Nojus burgi." Whereupon in the month of June in the same year Shakspeare proceeded against a person of the name of Hornby, who had become a bail for the debtor and defaulter Addenbrooke. In 1611, Shakspeare purchased an additional twenty acres of land from William and John Combe. There is a tradition mentioned by Aubrey, the anti-antiquarian, that Shakspeare wrote a satirical quatrain upon John Combe, commonly called John-a-Combe, who was a man residing at what had been Stratford College, and "noted thereabout for his wealth and usury." Shakspeare had "a particular intimacy with Mr. Combe," and Aubrey says, being asked to write his epitaph then and there, so that he might see what might be said of him when he was dead, instantly gave him these four lines:

Ten in the hundred lies here engrav'd
'Tis a hundred to one his soul is not sav'd.
If any man asks, Who lies in this tomb'
Oh! oh! quoth the devil, 'tis one John-a-Combe.

Not one scrap, in any one's writings, of all his plays, has been preserved. Not one letter of his. Five of his signatures remain, namely, three to his last will and testament, preserved as a public record, in the Ecclesiastical Court, at Doctors' Commons; one signature to the deed of conveyance of a house he purchased in Blackfriars, London, in 1612-13; and another signature to a mortgage on that property, which he executed the day next following. The deed of conveyance is in the library of the corporation of the city of London, at Guildhall, and the mortgage is in the British Museum. I have had all the documents—will, conveyance and mortgage—in my hands. It is something to have seen all the handwriting of Shakspeare known to exist.

It is said that an ignorant baker at Warwick, not far from Stratford, married one of Shakspeare's descendants, who had two large chests full of the poet's loose papers and manuscripts, which were carelessly scattered and thrown about as garret lumber and litter, and were all consumed in a fire which destroyed a great part of Warwick, before the year 1728.

Up to the year of his death Shakspeare was involved in lawsuits about his great property at Stratford. He looked after his rights, and rigidly exacted them to the last penny.

Towards the end of his life he became serious, and it has been asserted that he died a Roman Catholic. Rowe declares that the latter part of Shakspeare's life "was spent as all men of good sense will wish their's may be, in ease, retirement and the conversation of his friends." Undoubtedly he was close in money matters. Pope, one of his editors, wrote:

Shakspeare, whom you, and every playhouse bill,
Style the divine, the matchless, what you will,
For gain, not glory, winged his roving flight,
And grew immortal in his own despight.

In fact, Shakspeare was more solicitous to improve his worldly estate than to obtain immortal fame as an author.

NASBY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5, 1869.

The agony is over! A. Johnson, spurned by an ungrateful people, which didn't deserve so sweet a boon, iz wonst more a private citizen, and uv no more account than I am—nor ez much, for I am still a postmaster.

Ez I wuz in at the birth of the Johnson party, so it wuz my painful dooty to be in at the deth. I wuz present at the first and the last uv the Cabinet meetings. The first wuz a eggsileratin scene—the last the most mournfullest I ever witnist. At the first we startid out with high hopes—fresh in our offices, with a Treasury to draw onto which seemed to us to hev no bottom, and with sich men ez Raymond, Weed, et al, to give us character—and the voices of the thousands uv patriots wich wantid offiss biddin us God speed—at the last there wuz left only those who hed become so fixed thet they coodent git away, and every one uv them conshus that the next day at 12 M. they wuz forever lost. The harlot commencing her career with pooth, beauty, strength and store clothes, is one thing—the same bein holler eyed, sunken cheeks, dirty end drabled, turned out to die on a dung hill, aint so plesant to look at.

The meetin wuz held in the same old room, in which I hev seen more weepin than ever fell to the lot uv one man. (The administrashen uv A. Johnson will be known in histry as the moist Administrashen.) It wuz in this room that we decided to veto the Freedman's Buro and Civil Rites Bills, and all the other acts uv the 39th and 40th Congresses—it wuz in this room that we received the nooze uv the eleckshens uv 1866, '67 and '68: it wuz in this room that the Philadelfy Convenshen wuz determined upon, and the teshin march uv Couch and Orr, arm in-arm, up the aisle wuz arranged, the President writin at the same time his little speech in wich he menshund the fact that ez bo read the account thereof he couldn't restrane his emoshun, but bustid into a flood uv teers; it wuz in this room that the spontaneous tributs uv respeck toward His Eggsiency at various times and places wuz arranged, and the details thereof fixed up, in shot, it wuz in this room that all the acts wich gild the memory uv ethe late administrashon wuz decided upon and renchorally wept over.

Ez I entered it—for the last time probably I bust into teers on the threshold and joined the other weepers who hed bin distillin briny greef for some hours. Indeed so long hed they bin weepin that one fried uv the President, who hed a Kentucky countenance, howled pitoously for some liquid to replace that wich he hed lost. A bottle wuz handed him and he wept no more. I tried it to strengthen me agin the waste that I knowd must ensoo. Ingratitood is not my failure. Till A. Johnson gits back to Tennessee my eyes shel not be dry.

The President wuz terribly calm and composed.

"Weep! my friends!" sed he, "weep. I can't blame yoo, for yoo are about to be deprived of mel I hev swung around the entire circle uv offishel honer. I hev bin—"

At this pint his voice trembled and his eyes wuz suffoosed.

"But no! I will be myself. Sekretary Seward, is there any more acts ur a unconstooshel Congress to vete?"

"No—puckittin uv em answers the purpose."

"Is there any body to pardon?"

"No one—but stay. Now that I think ur it, two counterfeiters, one whisky speculator, a Confedrit officer or two, and wat iz now left uv the assassination party still languish in Basteels or in exile."

"I must finish my work. Hand me them blank pardons."

He wrote with a firm hand, a fillin uv em out, wich only took a second ez he her blanks printed for all uv the various offenses man can be guilty uv.

"Now, then, my duties is accomplished, and I ch erfully resign the power with I would her land Gown I engag but for the sake uv my bleedin country. I would hev saved my native land but Ecuff. Admit our friends."

Mayor Maxwell uv New Orleans, Mrs. Cobb, a score or more uv Confedrit officers and a flood uv unforchenet men who hed bin accoosed ur tamperin with an unconstooshnel currency, and a hundred, more or less, ur Federal offis holders filed in and shook the President corjelly by the hand, droppin a silent tho elokent teer ez they passed. There wuz, in addishen to these several hundred poor wretches who hed bin layin about Washington for months waitin for possibens, but who hedn't got em. They hed no money to get home with, and they insisted that the President must and should furnish em means. One ur demanded uv Randall $500, but that great man finally got rid uv him by loanin him a clean shirt and a box uv paper collars.

The man wuz deprest though still hopeful. "This," sed he, wavin the shirt in the air, "this is all I hev to start on agin—when I embarkt into Johnsonism my friends fell off. In removin I took to likker and step by step went down till I reech the loathsome object you behold. But I shel now reform and try to be somebody. Disguised in this shirt I may inspire confidence and find a helpin hand. But don't none uv yoo speak to me on the street."

Ez I saw him the next evenin in a state uv hilarity hangin to a lamp post repeatin portions uv the late President's farewell address to pra-rie dog overcome him agin and that the clean shirt bed bin pawned. Poor fellow!

Then come the most saddest scene uv all. The President hed to bid adoo to his Cabinet.

"My

A Yale student writes to the College Courant as follows concerning a joke perpetrated by himself upon a college professor:

News from China.

The Bulletin correspondent in Canton, China, sends the following interest items:

ANOTHER TROUBLE WITH THE ENGLISH.

Another difficulty has occurred between the English and Chinese since the sailing of the last steamer. It appears that the boats of H. B. M. gunboat Cockchafer had gone up a creek at Swatow for the purpose of drilling the men, when they were stoned by the natives. The ringleader was caught and the commander attempted to hold him in custody until the native authorities could be informed of the assault. A large mob of Chinese, some 400 or 500 in number, made their appearance and opened fire on the boat's crew. The latter returned their civilities with Snyder rifles, killing 15 or 20 Chinese and wounding a great many more. The boat's crew had 12 or 15 of their number wounded, several mortally. Admiral Keppell is at present in port he will probably give the gentle John a lesson in the rights of hospitality which will be remembered for some time.

An Englishman was recently murdered by some Chinese in the vicinity of Honkong for the plunder upon his person; and many outrages in the Southern provinces indicate a growing hostility towards freigners which must soon be checked by a wholesome dose of shot and shell.

IMMIGRATION TO CALIFORNIA—CHINESE WOMEN

The immigration to California, is, no doubt, the most beneficial movement that has taken place among the Chinese, and will, in time, swell to great proportions. The facilities offered by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company have tended to increase the movements, and as the benefits derived from California spread through China the immigration will be increased.

The restrictions attempted to be placed upon the landing of female passengers in San Francisco having been removed, we notice a large number of the almond-eyed damsels embarking for the land of gold under the supervision of a number of elderly women, who seem to be interested in their welfare. Chinese girls are frequently sold by their mothers for small sums, say from $10 to $100, depending upon their condition and the personal attractions of the juvenile Celestials. Taking a wife, or a plurality of wives, among the Chinese, is quite a matter of business, and the preliminaries are generally arranged by matrimonial brokers, who seem now to be doing a thrifty business for the California market. It is not good for John to be alone, and, therefore, Judy is sent over to solace his exile.

MACAO.

Macao is a beautiful little city with a blending of European architecture with Chinese scenery. The Portuguese flag has waived over the little peninsula for more than 300 years. It has never been actually ceded to the Portuguese, but three centuries of peaceable occupation may be considered a fair title. The Portuguese Government has kept up a military establishment here during the changes of three centuries, and during the British-Chinese war, Macao was the refuge of the foreigners who were driven from Canton. The Governor's Palace, the Cathedral, the Fort and the Castle are the most prominent places.

The Praya affords a fine drive around the sea front of the city, and many handsome gardens and pleasant grounds in the suburbs indicate the pursuit of pleasure rather than business.

A CHINESE SCHOOLHOUSE AND CHINESE EDUCATION.

I was walking the streets of Canton one day with a Chinaman who stopped at a schoolhouse to speak with his brother, who followed the honorable occupation of a school teacher, and I availed myself of the opportunity to visit a Chinese primitive school. The youngsters were seated in high-back chairs and had their books before them on the usual school boy's desk. To please a foreigner they were instructed to continue their exercises, and each one commenced at the top of his voice the recitation of the lesson. The din was fearful, and if the exercise does not benefit the brain it will be good for the lungs. They work about ten hours a day. A Chinese education is enough to ossify the brain. To learn 25,000 frightful characters, and then commit the classics to memory! It would be a marvel if the mind had any room for expansion. It may be possible that foreigners who learn the language are stunted in intellect, at at least my experience with them forces the conclusion that they are less liberal in their views than their more fortunate countrymen. They believe that Confucius was greater than Christ; that railroads, telegraphs and newspapers are inventions of the evil one; that international intercourse is a curse to the Chinese; that the feet of women should be cramped until they cannot walk; that a pigtail is an ornamental appendage to the head; and that the flowing robes of the Celestials are more becoming to the human form than the close fitting costumes of European fashions.

A STRANGE CONTRAST.

It is a strange contrast to observe that while gambling houses, tippling houses and bawdy houses are licensed in the Christian colonies of Hongkong and Macao, they are forbidden by law under a heavy penalty in the pagan city of Canton. If the Chinese are prejudiced against foreigners and consider them kidnappers and opium smugglers, some reason may be found in this prominent fact.

UNPLEASANT REFLECTIONS.—Not a thousand miles from La Crosse, Wisconsin, lives a family who had in their employ a daughter of Erin. The lady having cause to doubt her honesty had a mirror hung in the sitting room, so that while idling away her time in the boudoir, she could watch the movements of the unsuspecting Biddy in the kitchen. One day while watching her make away with a large quantity of choice preserves, she rushed into the presence of the astonished girl. "How dare you eat all my nice preserves in this way?" Although she still held the jar and spoon, she replied, "Sure, missus, you must be mistaken, I've not tasted the first blessed mouthful; I was only fixing them for the tay." "Oh, Biddy! how can you deny it when I saw you from my room? Look," and she pointed to the glass that reflected the center of her cozy boudoir, "in that glass I can see all you are doing in this room, and I saw you eat my preserves. If this occurs again I shall discharge you." Biddy stood in amazement, staring at the glass a few minutes, then rubbing her hand over her fore head as though trying to comprehend the extent of the magical glass, cried out, "Och, and sure! 'tis meself that has been watching (in the same glass), and I've my opinion that if the master was to see how you welcome that same gentleman partner of his, in your own private parlor, 'twould be yerself that would be discharged." It is not necessary to add that the glass was removed, and Biddy kept at an increased salary.

A PACIFIC RAILROAD INCIDENT.—A traveler just from the end of the Pacific railroad track, relates this little incident which he witnessed in the train while en route: The conductor approached a rough looking customer who was mak*ing himself* very comfortable in one of the seats, and informed him that he wanted the fare. "The h—ll you do!" was the reply, as the scaly looking passenger faced the officer of the road with a fierce look. The latter, nothing daunted, still insisted on seeing a ticket or a "pass." The fellow replied that he would show his "pass," and immediately produced a revolver and leveled it on the collector of tickets. At this moment, another huge, rough looking fellow, who had witnessed the proceedings, coolly pulled out a "navy" and placing it to the head of the belligerent passenger, deliberately informed him that he must "shell out" his railroad fare or have a bullet through his brain. The latter dropped his pistol (the conductor picked it up), pulled out his wallet, and forked over the requisite amount of money. The railroad official received the stamps, counted them, handed back the revolver, and bowing politely, passed on; while the belligerent individual threw himself back in his seat and commenced whistling "The girl I left behind me," beating time with his finger on the seat in front. The people out that way have their "little peculiarities."

UP THE COLUMBIA.—We clip the subjoined items from the Walla Walla Statesman of the 9th inst. If the large lots of goods now being daily discharged from freight wagons at the stores on Main street can be taken as an index of prosperity, our merchants are certainly reaping a bountiful harvest. We are told by several of the business firms that they are this season bringing up larger stocks than ever before, a fact which must be apparent to the casual observer, even, from the unusual bustle and activity about their establishments, caused by the unloading of boxes, opening, marking and shelving of goods.....Several parties of miners left this city during the week for the new mines in the Kootenai district, among them the Moresmith brothers, who were mining in the new camp two months last fall. They report to us that they mined with rockers along the banks of the creek and made from $12 to $20 per day to the hand. They are very sanguine of the extent and richness of these diggings.....For the past two weeks there has been a steady stream of Chinamen pouring through this valley on their way to the mines.....The prospect is yet favorable for the most abundant fruit crop in this valley the coming season that has ever been raised here. The peach, pear and plum trees are now in full bloom, giving to the orchards and yards hereabouts a decidedly floral appearance. It will be recollected that last year (which was an unfavorable one for late frosts) considerable of the fruit was killed as late as the 15th of May.....The press and type for the Walla Walla Union arrived in town on Saturday last, and the printers are now engaged in setting it up in newspaper shape. It is expected that the first number will be issued on Saturday next.

SMALL BUSINESS.—The "locals" of the Commercial and Herald are charging each other with theft—appropriating items one from the other without credit. To prove this theft on the Herald man, the Commercial man, last evening, cited the following specimen publications:

Fifth Vessel.—The Adeline Elwood, the fifth vessel in the Mercer & Brockway Pioneer Line, sailed from New York on the 24th ult. Her place at the dock has been taken by the A. Heaton which is being rapidly laden, and will sail the last of this month. The Hattie Bessie and Elwood are now on their way to this port; the former has been out some months and is daily expected to arrive.—Commercial, of April 8th [evening].

Fifth Vessel.—The Adeline Elwood, the fifth vessel of the Mercer & Brockway Pioneer Line, sailed from New York on the 24th ult. Her place at the dock has been taken by the A. Heaton, which is being rapidly laden, and will sail on the last of this month. The Hattie Bessie and Elwood are both on the way to this port, the former of which has been out some months, and is daily expected to arrive.—Herald, of April 9th.

The "humor" of the thing is that the item was stolen verbatim by the Commercial from the OREGONIAN of the 8th, the phraseology only being slightly.

THE TYPE.—The first font of type ever put in case in Oregon City, in February, 1845, preparatory to the first issue of the Spectator. Since then it has experienced various fortunes. It was used in the publication of the Spectator while that journal lived, and if we mistake not, the Argus, which was published many years afterward in Oregon City. It has been used at Eugene City and Albany, at the latter place, in the Gazette office. From there it returned to Oregon City, when Mr. Ireland began the publication of the Enterprise, and has remained there since, till day before yesterday, when it was brought to this city and sold it to the Pacific Iron Works, as old and worn out type, to be used in making box metal. On the day it was packed in the office for removal, Mr. Fleming came in and bade farewell to the old friends (the types) of twenty-seven years ago.

FOR FRANCISCO.—The steamship Ajax sailed for San Francisco at half-past six o'clock last evening. The following is a list of her passengers: Mrs Col H C Hodges and child, H Fuller, Thomas Chapman, Henry Wagner and lady, Miss Laura May, Miss Kate Ellis, Mrs E A Willis, Mary O Cline, Cecile Levy, W Solomon, E Kohn, C Kohn, Mr and Mrs D W Rockell, John M Wurney, wife and infant, Mrs L D Eastham, Mrs C Durgan and three children, Mrs W Hawley, H H Johnson, S S Thompson, Lt Col D S Perry, H C Ward, G W Lakin, Miss E Lee, Mr Meacham and wife and two children, Mrs Mary F Bonney and child, S Barwell, wife and infant, Mrs F C Bonney and children, Henry Hall, O P Higgins, K Goggins, W B Matthews, John Stephens, W W Morton, O Howard, L L Dewey, Joseph Ryan, Edw Barry, Jr, Lee Howard and 18 in the steerage.

OFF FOR THE "SWALLOW."—The little steamer Swallow, owned by Mr. J. Bridge for Messrs. A. Vallard and Fisher's mill, was cut yesterday, not exactly for a boat to return to her own wharf from one of the wharves where she had been for the purpose of having some work done to her boiler. On the trip up, with a long head of steam, she made a mile in eight minutes, at the rate of seven and a half miles per hour for a small boat, with all machinery complete. Messrs. Vallard are pleased with the end-less chain arrangement for turning the wheel. There are yet a few things to be done to the boat or her machinery before she will enter into active business. She is a very handsome thing, and will, no doubt, perfectly answer the purpose of her builder and owners.

FROM WASHINGTON.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald writes: "Senator Corbett's bill, passed last winter, provided for the construction of a building not to cost over $100,000, to be used for the custom house, court house and post office, Portland, Oregon, and appropriated $50,000 to commence the work. Mr. Corbett got an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill last week appropriating the additional $50,000 to complete the work. The amendment was in a conference committee, and was finally passed by both Houses. A piece of land has been bought near the center of Portland, for $15,000, and the $100,000 to be applied to the construction of the building."

ARRIVAL.—The steamer Ajax took away last night about four hundred tons of produce.....The Ajax is doing a good job in having the new sewer of their accumulated mud and filth. The Herald says: Passengers leaving Portland this morning's boat will connect with the steamer leaving Celilo Friday morning for Lewiston. This will be the first trip of the season to that point. A heavy shower of rain fell during Monday night and the showers during yesterday. The weather, we learn, is warm and favorable to the growth of vegetation.

ROBBERY.—The bolt of fine dress goods which we noticed yesterday morning as having been stolen from the store of John O'Neil, was found yesterday by one of the H. B. M. Co.'s draymen (whose name we did not learn) in the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf—up stairs. The property had been stowed away behind some old boxes, and was accidentally discovered. The lucky finder, recognizing the cloth, was requested to have his purchase for one of O'Neil's best suits. A handsome present.

FROM WASHINGTON.—Mr. Benj. Simpson, who left here a few months since overland to Washington Territory, is back at this city last evening, overland. He left New York City on the 22d of March making the trip by way of Panama. He is in excellent health and spirits and does not at all fatigued by the journey. He reports Messrs. Meacham, Bowlby, Underwood and others are on the way, overland, and may be expected to arrive during the present week. Mr. Simpson is the Indian Agency at Siletz.

COUNTY CONVENTION.—We learn through a private source that the following named gentlemen were chosen at the Republican Convention of Walla Walla county, last week, to represent that county in the Territorial Convention to be held at Vancouver on the 21st inst.: Hon. E. F. Kearney, B. F. Stone, Wm. Steelman and Mr. Pettijohn.

SCHOOL MEETING.—At the adjourned school meeting of the Central School House, Monday evening, it was decided to levy a tax of two and a half mills on the dollar for all purposes. The proposition to purchase a piece of land and to erect a building for a high school was voted down.

CRAB CREEK HOUSE.—This hotel will be opened under the new management—by Messrs. Lyon & O'Connor—on Thursday. We commend these gentlemen to the "public," as experienced osterers.

CRIME.—The Commercial says the number of arrests in this city during the month of March was forty-seven, twenty-seven of which were on State charges and the remainder for offences against city ordinances.

COURTS—UPTON, JUDGE.—In the suit of Clackamas vs. the People's Transportation Company, a jury was empannelled and the day occupied in taking testimony.

SHIPPING.—We learn by private telegram from San Francisco that the bark H. W. Almy is now receiving cargo and will sail for this port on Friday, the 23d inst.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION has filled the various offices: Newman Bros., filled their spacious store, corner of Front and Morrison Streets, with the Latest Styles of Merchant Tailoring Goods, consisting of Cassimeres, Beaver, Broadcloths and all kinds of Gents' wear, also a fine Stock of Ready Made Clothing, and Gents' Furnishing Goods, which they are enabled to sell cheaper than any other House in their city, as their Mr Newman is constantly in the San Francisco market, buying at the most advantageous prices, of which their customers always have the benefit. Go and see them—they always have the goods.

DEATH! DEATH!—Adulteration, Sure Death.—The Portland newspaper has exposed the vast amount of deleterious adulteration of liquors and groceries, but in the dark.

It is carried on to a greater extent, thus producing Death, in consequence of physicians not obtaining the desired results from their remedies. The Liquors and Medicines at the Oregon Dispensary are fresh and pure; hence all of our first class Doctors prefer our goods to any other in this city.

LORYEA & KALLENBURG,
Oregon Dispensary, 73 First street.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.—The constant buzz of activity at Fisher & Fisher's yesterday, was occasioned by the receipt and opening of a very large and complete stock of Gents' and Furnishing Goods Spring Styles—purchased and just up from San Francisco, by Mr. Fishel, who understands how to be one of the best judges of that class of goods, doing business in this city. Call and see the New Styles.

Multnomah Lodge No. 13, I. O. G. T.—Meets this evening at 7½ o'clock on Saturday evening. All members in good standing are requested to attend. By order of W. C. T.

THE fame of the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS has no parallel in the history of Medicine. The thousands upon thousands of bottles that are made and sold daily is but proof positive of their wonderful virtues. Thousands of Certificates can be produced showing the efficacy and certainty of the cures which they effect, and the Medical Fraternity, usually so jealous of anything which causes persons to think and doctor for themselves, are compelled to acknowledge its efficacy and wonderful virtues, and prescribe them for those who seek their advice. They are sold by all our druggists.

OFFICE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill sts., opposite E. J. Northrup & Co.'s Hardware Store.
I am now making, amongst other numerous styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, the improved Vulcanite Plates of Dr. G. W. Cool's Patent, patented Dec 3d, 1867, the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it not only makes the plate double as strong but cleaner than the common Vulcanite Plate. It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common Plates. Call and see specimens.
N. B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr. G. W. Cool's Improved Vulcanite Plates, can have it made out to them by applying to the office.
N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these timekeepers.
The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches, COMBINING THE BEST AND LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, and at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch, merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary
For sale by all dealers.

CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongue to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 14, 1869.

An Empty Grant.

The Herald takes exceptions to our remarks concerning the land grant for a Wallamet valley railroad. In reply to our statement that the grant is of very little value, that paper says:

"The reason for such an assertion as that we cannot account for. It would appear at first glance that that paper was endeavoring to belittle the value derived from this munificent grant of Congress for the purpose of discouraging those who hope to receive it. If no such motive existed, the assertion was as injudicious as it was unfounded. This Congressional grant of 12,800 acres of land to the mile is a most important one. To be sure, the land, which will be located, at present, is of no great value, but so soon as the railroad is built and emigration swarms hither, as it soon will, this lands now nominal in value, will then most surely fully enhance in price, and will ultimately, we predict, sell for enough to pay nearly the whole expense of building the road. We cannot conceive what object a journal has in making such false and unfounded assertions, which tend only (if they have any influence at all) to discredit works of public improvement."

The editor of the Herald wrote this simply for a love of contradicting the statements of this OREGONIAN; not because he had considered the subject and had reasons for proving what we said erroneous. The reason why he "cannot account for such an assertion" as we made concerning the land grant is owing to the fact that he knows not, little about the matter. What, let us inquire, is the Congressional grant of 12,800 acres of land throughout this valley worth to the Government has no land here to give away? All the land in Wallamet valley long since occupied, and except a little narrow strip which might be found in some mountain gorge, there but precipitous and heavily timbered, near enough to either the or the west side road to come within grant. All persons well informed to the Wallamet valley and this state of facts is what to say that "the whole land grant valley railroad would not mile of road." The Herald "venture" that the grant will sell for to pay nearly the whole expense of the road. "We cannot conceive what has in making such random ments," based on the hypothesis that it ed on the subject to talk about it. Our railroad company would thank the Herald to tell valuable tracts of land are or in the mountains adjoining be sold for so much money. or honesty in saying that a Wallamet valley road is so extensive, when four-fifths of the people there is very little value

Democratic papers, says the Marysville have made a great ado about the of the Tenure-of-Office Act, but really was tested in Congress the other on the motion to adopt the report of the Committee. The Bulletin, alluding to the matter, says: "It is a curious fact the Democratic members all voted in opposition of the Conference report, it was manifestly the only available during that independence of the which they have professed to re- as vital to good government. Had the been divided, the Democratic have kept the President's hands tied."

says: "The Judiciary bill has which provides for another Judge on the Supreme bench. Thus far, Senator Wilson's name has been the most prominent for Judge." This is merely another specimen of the ignorance of Democratic editors. could not take the appointment if it offered him. The national Constitution, article first, section six, declares that "no Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the United States, which shall have been created during such time." Williams could not take the office before March 1871, and no doubt it will be filled long before that time.

Money.

A portion of the opposition press continues to reiterate the absurd statement that the business of Oregon is seriously hampered by the collection of last year's taxes in the State Treasury. Some of them have gone so far as to assert that the greater part of the money in Oregon is thus locked up out of reach! Now if the greater part of the cash in the State is paid in for taxes every year, it is pretty clear that the people of this Democratic State is considerably over-taxed. But the assertion is sheer nonsense. During the last year Ben Holladay has paid out among our people two or three times as much money as the whole amount now in the State Treasury; and if the money at Salem were disbursed to the last dollar it would not affect in the least degree the general volume of circulation. A very few persons might feel it, but the people would never know it. But as the Democratic press must have something to growl about, this subject will serve them about as well as any other.

Party Strife.

Many good people spend a great deal of time in deploring the evil results of party strife. Others admit the existence of the evil, but see no practical way of getting rid of it.

Parties are unavoidable in free countries. Freemen will differ in their judgments of policies and measures, and those who agree together will club their forces to carry their joint judgment into effect. Parties in free countries are useful; their mutual watchfulness goes to the common security. A dominant party will be less bold and less able to do mischief, while acting under the eye of a jealous rival, interested and alert to detect and expose its misbehavior. When no mischief is intended, the country is the safer for the sharp scrutiny which measures undergo, when subjected to discussion between advocates and opponents stimulated in their discernment and activity by that spirit of party which has all the force of a vehement passion. Party strife, then, is unavoidable It is idle to deplore it. Theories for doing away with it may be very fine, but in a popular government they will never have a realization.

THE EAST.

The title deeds to a lot of ground in Glasgow, Scotland, have been discovered in an old clock in New Hampshire.

A rich citizen is to present Cincinnati with a beautiful fountain, costing $60,000, thirty feet high, and surmounted by a female figure in bronze. It is being made in Nuremberg.

Girard College is in a quandary. The will of its founder requires that graduates shall be bound out to learn a suitable trade; but so few apprentices are wanted now that the college is overflowing with boys who have gone through the whole course and cannot be disposed of.

There are in Massachusetts about seven hundred colored Freemasons, who have seven flourishing lodges in existence. They have never been acknowledged or recognized by the white Freemasons of Massachusetts, and have for a long time been trying to secure what they term their rights.

Grant recently remarked to a friend in Washington: "The Treasury Department has given me more anxiety than any other, unless I except the Interior. It is full of 'rings.' I am told that favoritism to particular bankers and 'interests' has been common in it for years. I believed Mr. Stewart would break all this up, and the surer because he was no politician."

President Grant's appointment of three women as Postmistresses—(the word is abominable, and wouldn't Postofficers be better?)—has attracted to Washington a rush of female office-seekers. Some of them are in pursuit of places as internal revenue officers, others as Customhouse functionaries, and others in other branches of the service. It is to be hoped that the office hunting mania will not spread among the women.

THE WEST.

A Cheyenne editor, United States Commissioner, has sent another to jail for thirty-six hours for contempt of court.

It was telegraphed here the other day that P. J. Malone, phonographic reporter for a California court, was arrested in San Francisco for forgery. It is stated that after his reporter's bills had been countersigned by Judge Sawyer, he had altered the figures, and presented the bills to the Board of Supervisors, sometimes for four times the actual amount due him.

The Yreka Journal learns that there are a number of companies and parties making preparations to commence mining operations in Klamath river during the coming summer. The very dry winter has caused the river to be lower than ever before known, since the settlement of this county by white people, and the chances of success in river mining this season will be attended with less difficulties in consequence.

The Hamilton (White Pine) News, of March 30, has the following which indicates that a neighboring town is a "lively place:" Treasurer City was quite lively on Saturday evening last, on account of numerous displays, "in a rude and threatening manner," of six shooters. We are informed that officers there deposited twelve pistols in one saloon, all of which were taken from men who had drawn them in the house with the avowed purpose of "putting a hole through somebody." Several rows were commenced, but each was quelled before any shots were fired.

The foreign imports at San Francisco for the quarter ending March 31st, amount to four millions, on which $1,916,000 was paid for duties. The value of goods received in the time from New York per steamer is $13,510,000, and in addition there were 87,000 tons of merchandise from domestic Atlantic ports by sailing vessels, the freight on which alone amounted to $1,763,000! The exports for the same period amounted to $15,022,000, of which $10,370,000 was in coin, and the balance, $4,652,000, was in merchandise. That, says the Sacramento Bee, is the way the money goes. We import too much. We must manufacture more.

Odds and Ends.

The Revolution states that Mrs. Fanny Kemble long ago set the example to the women of Massachusetts of riding astride on horseback.

Mormon missionaries are zealously laboring in New England, and claim that many families will go to Salt Lake the present spring.

The Joy paper mill in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, at which Benjamin Franklin used to purchase his paper, is still in operation.

New York is more densely populated than any other city. In one portion 192,000 persons reside within a square mile. London cannot furnish a parallel.

The people of Philadelphia seem unwilling or unable to support more than three theaters. The Chestnut street theater has just been closed for want of patronage.

The Columbus (Ohio) Journal pays the following compliment to the new Indiana Senator: "Garrett Davis has a voice like a three weeks' fall rain, but Pratt can wash him high and dry at one squirt."

An Austrian author asserts that Napoleon I. had twenty-one illegitimate children, of whom five are still alive. The Emperor Napoleon III. supported nearly half of them, while he refused to do anything for others.

Female suffrage prevails among the colonists of Pitcairn Island in the election of magistrates. Their school is excellent, and all the children can read and write. Certainly this is no small progress for these half breed descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty.

A marriage has been arranged between the Prince of Asturias and a daughter of the Duke de Madrid. The Prince is very young and the bride elect is not yet born. It is sad to imagine the blight of young affection, in case she should happen to be a boy.

Three old bachelors residing in one cabin, in Siskiyou county, California, have placed upon the top of their roof, a cradle with a blanket in it, which indicates that they are on the marry, and wish their fair friends to understand that they have one piece of furniture at least to accompany the marriage estate.

There is a Democratic negro at Ottumwa, Iowa. His name is Albert Savington. He took part in the city convention to nominate city officers. The Courier says that when he came forward to vote the negro-hating Cops welcomed him with deafening cheers, and they are all ready to swear there is not the faintest trace of an unpleasant odor about that "nigger."

It is related of Napoleon, that when Marshal Duroc, an avowed infidel, was once telling an improbable story, giving as his opinion that it was true, the Emperor quietly remarked: "There are some men who are capable of believing everything but the Bible." This remark finds abundant illustrations in every age. There are men all about us, at the present day, who tell us they cannot believe the Bible, but their capacity for believing any and everything which seems to oppose the Bible, are enormous. The greediness with which they devour the most far-fetched stories, the flimsiest arguments, if they only appear to militate against the word of God, is astonishing.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO APRIL 10.

Nominations for Office—Washington News.

NEW YORK, April 12—The following nominations were sent to the Senate to-day: J. Lothrop Motley, Minister to England. A. G. Curtin, Minister to Russia: John Jay, of New York, Minister to Austria. Leopold Markbryet, of Prussia, Minister to Bolivia, Joseph R Partridge, of Maryland, Minister to Nicaragua. Wm. A Pile, of Missouri, Minister to Venezuela; J. R Jones, to Belgium, John S Carlyle, of West Virginia, to Stockholm; J. R. Clay, of Louisiana, (colored), to Liberia; R C Kirk, of Ohio, to the Argentine Confederation, Stephen A. Hulburt, to Bogata; Silas A. Hudson (colored), of Iowa, to Guatemala; Ebenezer D. Bassett (colored), of Pennsylvania, to Hayti.

The Senate met and went into executive session. The following are among the nominations sent to the Senate to-day: Orange Jacobs and J. K. Kennedy, as Associate Justices of Washington Territory; E. B. Snow, as Assessor of Wyoming, and Thomas Harley as Collector of Wyoming. Rear Admiral Lyman has received preparatory orders to take command of the South Atlantic squadron.

The Supreme Court has rendered a decision in the case of the State of Texas against G. M. White and others. The suit was to restrain defendants from recovering payment from the National government for certain Texas indemnity bonds of the United States, which the plaintiff claims belong to the State. The bonds were sold by the rebel Legislature, and the reconstructed State Government seeks to prevent their payment. Various collateral questions were raised regarding the jurisdiction of the Court and the ability of the plaintiff to sue. The opinion of the Court is very long and able, and concludes that the State of Texas is entitled to the relief sought by the bill, and a decree is ordered accordingly. Justice Grier dissented as to jurisdiction and merits or cause and holds that Texas is not a State in point of fact, and therefore could not bring suit. Justices Swain and Miller dissented as to the jurisdiction only.

The Supreme Court to-day rendered a decision in the McArdle case. The Chief Justice delivered the opinion, dismissing the appeal for want of jurisdiction. The Court also delivered opinions in several other cases arising under the rebellion, and then adjourned till Thursday.

The Senate confirmed no nominations to-day. The executive session was spent in consideration of naturalization interests with Belgium, Baden, and several other German States. The Darien Canal treaty was discussed without action.

New York News.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The Post says it is reported that a fast privateer of seven hundred tons burden left New York recently to aid the Cuban insurgents. It is said that after leaving port a number of guns were put on board. She took 120 men, mostly Americans.

A mass meeting of 25,000 Germans was held yesterday to express the German sentiment regarding the proposed amendments to excise laws.

Henry Arcularius, a prominent Democratic politician, died to-day.

A meeting of the Cuban Junta was held to-day. The proceedings were secret, but it is intimated that a strong Cuban expedition has sailed from a Southern port under the command of a distinguished American officer.

Both branches of the City Council to-day adopted resolutions of sympathy with the Cuban patriots.

The Imperialist, a weekly journal recently started, adverse to the change of the form of government of Spain, is about to collapse.

Village Destroyed by Fire.

CHICAGO, April 12.—A fire broke out yesterday morning in the village of Hancock, Michigan, near Harrington, which resulted in the almost complete destruction of the town, only a few buildings being left, perhaps one-sixth of the entire village. The water supply gave out early, leaving the town at the mercy of the flames, which spread fast before a fierce wind, destroying a whole block in a few minutes. Thirty buildings were burning at one time. Every store except one was destroyed. About fifteen acres, comprising six blocks, were burned over, containing 110 houses, besides barns and outbuildings. The total loss is about half a million. Two hundred families are left homeless and many of them are in a pitiful state. A meeting of the citizens of the country was held for their relief.

From Cuba.

KEY WEST, April 12.—A private letter from a reliable source, says the Government intends to confiscate the property of suspected parties. The writer urges the Cubans now in the United States to immediately transfer their property to foreigners.

HAVANA, April 12.—Gen. Lettonia, of the Spanish army, has arrived here.

The Diario says the works surrounding Puerto Principe have been on fire, and it adds that the troops will clear the vicinity of rebels. Small bands of insurgents are near Cinercvillas, and their number is increasing.

Indiana Bolters Returned.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12.—The bolting members of the House have appeared and qualified.

A resolution was adopted postponing action on the Fifteenth Amendment bill till May 11th.

No quorum was in the Senate till the passage of the above resolution in the House, when the Democratic members appeared and regular business commenced.

Murder Committed by a Woman.

BALTIMORE, April 12.—On Saturday evening at Jonesville, Miss Cains shot and killed N. M. C. Canas, while sitting on the porch of the hotel, in the presence of twenty persons. The alleged cause was seduction.

The Cuban Question.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Herald's Washington special says at a recent Cabinet meeting the Cuban question was discussed. Fish opposed hasty steps toward the recognition of Cuban independence, holding that Spain will tire of resisting the natural course of events in Cuba; but in the event of interference, would not only exhaust her resources in resisting, but would form an alliance with France and England, with whom we would become involved in war. Grant has great reliance in Fish. Cresswell and Borie are in favor of Cuban recognition.

CHICAGO, April 12.—A special says the Cubans are disconsolate over the failure of the sympathy resolutions in the Senate. They profess, however, to have information that Cespedes is master of the situation, and declare that within a fortnight he will receive arms and ammunition to enable him to put 10,000 negroes in the field.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, April 12.—At a meeting of two hundred conservative members of Parliament to-night Disraeli, in a speech, indicated the future of the policy of his party on the Irish Church question, and announced the amendments which will be proposed by the opposition to the bill now pending in the House of Commons, which are in effect, that the grants made to the Irish Church since the reformation, shall remain intact, the Glebe land to be retained by the present holders without purchase, the union of the Irish Church with the Church of England to cease. Seven hundred and twenty two unimportant modifications of financial sections of the bill are proposed, including the establishment of a capital sum for the support of the Clergy, and the application of a large portion of the church revenues to the support of public worship and to defray the expenses of the management of the Church. Finally, an effort will be made to strike out all clauses referring to the Maynooth grant and the regnum donate plan. It was favorably received and the meeting was marked by much enthusiasm.

The Pope, on the occasion of the jubilee granted pardons to many prisoners, including a number of political offenders.

News from Rio say an expedition of 12,000 is preparing to march to the interior in search of Lopez.

LIVERPOOL, April 12.—California wheat is quoted at 9s 4d.

MADRID, April 12.—The arrest of Carlists still continues in Gronada.

FLORENCE, April 12.—Ceruti, the present Minister to Washington, has been superceded by Bertenatte, and goes as Minister to Madrid.

NEVADA.

VIRGINIA, April 12.—Under the supposition that the fire was entirely out, at 11 o'clock this morning, the shafts of the Yellow Jacket, Kentuck and Crown Point mines were re-opened and fresh air forced down. At noon a stream of water was sent down the Crown Point shaft to further purify the air. Chief Gibson, Bill Lee, John Rosevere and James Reynolds were then sent down in the car, arriving within 20 feet of the 600 feet level. They encountered foul air which put out their lights and compelled them to return. The air continuing to improve, other excursions were made as low as the 900 foot level. At the 230 feet level the bodies of R. Ryan and John O'Brien were found and brought up. They were much disfigured, but recognizable. Water was found to be within 50 feet of the 900 foot level. No fire was found, and but little damage was observed except at the 700 foot level, where the fire had burned from the Yellow Jacket mine through the Kentuck mine and to within two sets of timbers of the Crown Point shaft. The earth had caved nearly to the shaft, filling the drift completely. The natural draft of the mine has changed, the draft being now strong up the Yellow Jacket and moderate up the Kentuck, with none up the Crown Point—probably caused by caves. It is rumored that a third body has been recovered.

Later—9 P M.—Further researches have revealed the fact that the fire is not all out. The shafts are again being closed, and steam will be injected.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

It has been previously stated that Captain Raymond, of the Engineer corps of the United States Army, has received orders to proceed to Alaska on special duty. It is now understood that he has been detailed in pursuance of instructions from Washington, directing the Commanding General of the Pacific Military Division to send an officer of Engineers to ascertain the true position of Fort Yukon, a large trading post of the Hudson Bay Company. This post is on the Yukon river, some 1,200 miles above its mouth and at its junction with the Porcupine river. It is said to be nearly one hundred miles within the American boundary line. The fact of its being outside of the British Possessions is so well known that previous to the transfer of the territory from Russia to the United States, the Hudson Bay Company, for a time at least, paid the Russian American Fur Company for the privilege of trading at this point. The cool assurance of this encroachment of the Hudson Bay Company—first in establishing the post without permission on Russian territory and then remaining after it had become American territory—is on a par with other previous discreditable transactions of this monopoly on the Northwest coast. The same grasping spirit originated the unfounded claim to the island of San Juan, and the equally absurd claim of six million dollars damages against the United States for the alleged possessory rights of the company in Washington Territory. Whymper, the artist who accompanied the Russian American Telegraph Expedition, made a trip to Fort Yukon. In his book, recently published, entitled "Adventures in Alaska," he describes the trade of this post as exceedingly profitable. For the purposes of increasing their trade, large quantities of heavy goods, hardware, guns, etc., are transported thither. In the fur room of the fort he saw thousands of marten skins hanging from the beams, and huge piles of common furs lying around. They also get a very respectable number of silver-gray and black fox skins of rarity and value. The company will be loath to give up a station of such importance, and will, in all probability, use every exertion to delay as long as possible compliance with the "notice to leave." Perhaps the same ingenious plan may be pursued that was resorted to (under similar circumstances) in Washington Territory. The agent and employees will declare their intention to become American citizens, and then undertake to establish a pre emption right which will cover the fort and all the desirable land in the vicinity, and in this way continue the fur trade for the benefit of the company. If this shrewd business dodge is attempted, it will require the permanent station, at Fort Yukon, of an Inspector of Customs, to see that the goods of the Hudson Bay Company, at that place, are taxed the full amount for which such foreign importations are liable, and also the duty on the furs exported. It would be but simple justice if the company were made to suffer heavy penalties for infraction of the revenue laws. Neither ignorance nor imaginary possessory claims can be the plea in this case. The Hudson Bay Company have knowingly and maliciously invaded what is now the territory of the United States, and should be held to a strict accountability for this unwarranted intrusion. Captain Raymond and a party sail in the brig Commodore next Monday. This vessel also takes up the small stern wheel steamer belonging to Messrs. Parrot and Waterman, which was built expressly for the navigation of the Yukon river. In the steamer the party will proceed immediately up the river to the fort. The Captain will spend the summer months in explorations and return in the fall to this city. His report will, in all probability, contain much new and interesting information with regard to Alaska.

CLAIMING HER OWN.—The San Francisco dispatch to the Union has the following:

"B. F. Moses, a resident of Virginia City, is here, endeavoring to obtain possession of an infant child named Lizzie Moses. The child was left on the stoop of a citizen of Virginia in February, 1865, when but a few hours old, and was adopted by Moses—who discovered that the child was illegitimate, and the daughter of a single woman named Adeline Howland—he having first obtained the mother's consent. Recently the woman got married, and on the 14th instant she got possession of the child and fled with it to this city. A writ of habeas corpus has been issued, but the Sheriff has not yet been able to discover the whereabouts of the woman and child."

PEOPLE AT WHITE PINE.—Evans writes from White Pine to the Alta saying:

The reports about 200 or 300 men being in daily pursuit of labor and unable to obtain employment in this district are wholly untrue, at least so far as able-bodied miners and mechanics are concerned. There is an abundance for such men to do at fair prices. There are men of no trade, profession or capital here in abundance, doing nothing or worse, and living from hand to mouth; but such men never had any business here in the first place, and they only give any district a bad name. The towns are also filled with abandoned women; the streets fairly swarm with them; they appear to come from all directions, and of course thrive where gamblers are as thick as they are here, the two hunt together always.

Chicago calls itself the Garden City because its soil is too sandy for anything of importance to grow in it. Cleveland borrows from Portland, Maine, the name of Forest City, perhaps because there are no forests there. St. Louis ought, we think, to be called the American Tadmor, for it is certainly in the wilderness. The Republican announces that a grand fox hunt is to be held on the 17th inst. in the "western suburbs!"

The branch mint at Denver has been reduced to an assay office. An assayer and a melter and refiner constitute the officers, with the assayer as superintendent. This lets out the superintendent and the coiner, and considerably reduces the clerical force. By this change the expenditures will be reduced to about half the usual amount.

The American Eagle Abroad.

Three hundred and sixteen thousand dollars ry all our Foreign Ministers. Thirty-three ousand dollars pay all our Secretaries of Le-ation. The Chinese Secretary gets five thousd dollars, the greatest salary, for understanding the language there. Only half the im is paid to a Secretary who can speak apanese. Fifty dollars a week is paid to ecretaries at Paris and London, while in ear and frigid St. Petersburg thirty-five dolrs a week is the stipend. A hundred thousnd dollars, added as contingent to this grand otal, make four hundred and fifty thousand ollars a year expense for what Donn Piatt described John Mason as doing, "bringing his gigantic intellect to bear upon n introduction of Muggins to the Emperor" In Turkish countries our Consuls have to keep guards, dragomen, and other lazzorini, costing $3,500.

We appropriate $50,000 a year to relieve merican seamen, send them home, and make hem feel the goodness of their flag, and $5,-00 dollars to make presents to foreigners who rescue our seamen It is a beautiful hing to see all civilization reaching out elp to those who "sail the seas over for hee, love!" We plant light-houses all round them, leave a relief fund in every port, make Jack happy as his tastes go, fill his ipe with baccy, procure him a fiddle, make him proud of his colors. But the sovereignty of the storm, the ocean that violates the comity of nations, the insincere and barbarous sea, who shall put trust in treaties with it?

Our Consuls and their clerks cost us $400,-000. We have eleven Consuls General, one hundred and twenty Consuls, and forty-five inferior Consuls. London and Paris are now Consulates General. Some new Consulates are Acapulco, Hakodadi, Mahe, Osacca, Tunstall, Valencia, Yeddo, and Baimen. Fifty thousand dollars are expended for flags, arms, seals, and postage for the Consuls. Thirty-five thousand dollars for office rent. We support prisons in China, Siam, Turkey, and Japan, as well as Consular Courts, and they cost us $18,000. It costs $10,000 to bring home criminals, when Surratt is not on the wing; $12,500 to suppress the slave trade, $10,000 for neutrality act expenses, and $55,-584 to pay this year's part of the Scheldt dues —these are some of the sums we pay abroad. We give $5,000 to a revenue agent who ransacks the account of Consuls, and keeps them from what is commonly called "knocking down." Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that we need not have anybody to watch the revenue agents. Ninety days skylarking in each and every year is allowed to a Consul at [illegible]. Vessels to Canada "clear" only once a year. The jail at Bankok, in Siam, and all the jailers, get altogether $1,-000 a year.

The Day Independence of Wives.

[From the Boston Traveler.]

There is little or no recognition of the fact that the wife earns in her province just as certainly as the man in his; that her service is quite as rigidly exacted in the way of the case, and just as faithfully rendered as his; that while his labor is of the muscles and brain, hers involves and taxes every faculty of her being; that while his labor is limited to certain hours after which he may rest, hers is unceasing, and her rest is snatched from her pressing care; and that the three-fold function of housekeeper, mother and dispenser is of a surety an equivalent for the [illegible] ties food, clothing and shelter.

An [illegible] wives Fifty wages. A cook [illegible] to her board and a c[illegible] in sum [illegible] likewise a[illegible] likewise, if she board and [illegible] and the recompense stipulated. But the wife, who [illegible] and more, who serves in any and every capacity which the need calls up, who may even assist her husband in his employment, in addition to her own, who may even be an active but silent [illegible] in his business, has bestowed upon her as a gift, a charity, a donation, the scanty privilege of support that her body demands. She owns nothing—all is his; she controls nothing, for the reins of power are held by [illegible] and she is driven with the rest of the [illegible]; she can change nothing, for a word of protest endangers the threadbare support that she endures.

The wife's comfort depends in these days upon [illegible] as her husband's prosperity, his loving affections, and her own compliance with existing conditions. Her inalienable right is not suspected, her equality is not conceded, her responsibility not respected.

No [illegible] dog is endowed with the power, right or privilege to protect another. Protection is inherent, and every individual removed from childhood and imberility is sheathed in a natural defense self-protection. The only protection which man pretends to vouchsafe to woman is a defense against the consequences of his own aggression, tyranny and abuse, for woman has no other enemy in the world.

In [illegible] Complained of.—The Nevada

Gazette of March 25th details some shameful doings on the part of husbands, as follows:

A lady in Grass Valley writes us urging that beer-jerkers and hurdy-gurdy saloons should be [illegible] pelled to pay a much heavier license, or be forced to suspend operations altogether. Her reasons are deduced from the fearful effects of such establishments in Grass Valley, and she states that married men, instead of bachelors, in that town, are the principal patrons of such places. According to the statement of our fair correspondent, whom we presume to be a married lady, the married men in that town are behaving themselves in a very unbecoming manner in remaining away from the endearments of home and spending the long hours of evening in beer-jerker's saloons, and foolishly squandering away their cash at such disreputable places.

The confusion of ideas in the female mind is illustrated by a curious and unconscious admission made by the Revolution lately. Speaking in terms of high praise of a female editor, this champion of woman's superiority said that her "able editorials were supposed to be from a man's pen." This is an unlucky slip, for the Revolution people claim that every woman can write as well as every man. If this is true why should the women's editorials be different from men's?

The Rhode Island locomotive works, at Providence, are employing six hundred men on engines for the Pacific railroads, and turning them out very fast. Those for the Union Pacific are first put up at the works to see that they are complete, then taken apart, boxed up, and shipped direct to California. This concern is under the direction of General Burnside, and its directors include several of the most wealthy and enterprising men of Providence.
